
WHAT HAPPENED AT CALVARY?Sami WilberforceFundamental questions to be addressed

1. Jesus experienced the second death. Second death has no resurrection;
2. Second death has no power over a holy person that's why death could not hold Jesus in the grave
3. Hell and Fire is the second death
4. There is no single inspired statement that says Christ died a second death. Can we provide one without supposing or deducting
5. No one argues Jesus paid the penalty of sin but nowhere in the scripture will you find and SoP that Jesus died the second death. It is only a supposition or deduction which contradicts the scripture to me. The problem is there is an assumption that Wages of sin= Death Jesus Death = Second Death. The Trinitarians argue God= Spirit so Spirit=God. Is this the route that we should take?
6. The sinners being punished and then the cleansing of the earth. All these comprise of second death. Second death is punishment of sin and a cleansing from the presence of sin
7. Conclusively then, Jesus tasted the second death, he died the death a hopeless sinner would die for refusing Christ and salvation. When Christ died he did not see beyond the portals of grave but because he had not sinned, his faith rested in the Father resurrecting him. The wicked has no faith of coming from the second death and neither will he really come from it. Second death is eternal loss but Jesus took the risk of eternal loss yet he was not lost. Second death has to do with rejecting the Father and his law, Christ obeyed his Father. The sundering of divinity and his deity lying dormant in the grave makes it infinite atonement but not a second death because it resumed its work after three days. Second death is a loss of immortality, Christ never lost immortality instead he regained it.
8. Inspiration says that Jesus rested after finishing the work. In his death he rested, doesn't this bring a challenge for first death is what is called rest? Would it be wrong if someone says his body suffered the first death but his outpouring of soul and sundering of divinity was the experience of second death?

The Death of the Son of God

He told them that he had been pleading with his Father, and had offered to give his life a ransom, and take the sentence of death upon himself, that through him man might find pardon; that through the merits of his blood, and obedience to the law of God, they could have the favor of God, and be brought into the beautiful garden, and eat of the fruit of the tree of life. {1SP 45.1}

Jesus told them that he would stand between the wrath of his Father and guilty man, that he would bear iniquity and scorn, and but few would receive him as the Son of God. SG vol1.45.2

The angels prostrated themselves before him. They offered their lives. Jesus said to them that he should by his death save many; that the life of an angel could not pay the debt. His life alone could be accepted of his Father as a ransom for man. SG Vol1 46.1

This sacrifice was of such infinite value as to make a man who should avail himself of it, more precious than fine gold, even a man than the golden wedge of Ophir. SG Vol1 51.1

This ceremonial offering, ordained of God, was to be a perpetual reminder to Adam of his guilt, and also a penitential acknowledgment of his sin. This act of taking life gave Adam a deeper and more perfect sense of his transgression, which nothing less than the death of God's dear Son could expiate. As Adam was slaying the innocent victim, it seemed to him that he was shedding the blood of the Son of God by his own hand. . SG Vol1 53.2

The blood of beasts was to be associated in the minds of sinners with the blood of the Son of God. The death of the victim was to evidence to all that the penalty of sin was death. By the act of sacrifice, the sinner acknowledged his guilt, and manifested his faith, looking forward to the great and perfect sacrifice of the Son of God, which the offering of beasts prefigured. Without the atonement of the Son of God there could be no communication of blessing, or salvation from God to man. SG Vol1 53.3

Note:

Form the above quotes, you find that the ransom for sin is not only the dying of Christ but the giving of his life to the saved. If then he died the second death, how can he offer that life?

Christ is the Restorer. A pure, spotless Saviour has borne the sins of every human being upon the cross. The dark cloud of human transgression came between the Father and the Son. The interruption of the communion between God and His Son caused a condition of things in the heavenly courts which cannot be described by human language. Nature could not witness such a scene as Christ dying in agony while bearing the penalty of man's transgression. God and the angels clothed themselves with darkness, and hid the Saviour from the gaze of the curious multitude while He drank the last dregs of the cup of God's wrath. Lt 139, 1898 VOL13 PARA 43

Note from Andy White

"This act of taking life gave Adam a deeper and more perfect sense of his transgression, which nothing less than the death of God's dear Son could expiate. {1SP 53.2}"

Bear - 7. To suffer; to undergo; as, to bear punishment. (Noah Webster's 1828 Dictionary)

So Christ was bearing (or undergoing) the penalty of man's transgression (death) while He was dying in agony. In other words when one is dying, they are undergoing death. There is agony in varying degrees that goes with the second death, as some are punished with few stripes and some with many, but death itself is the ultimate penalty. And nothing less than the death of the Christ could expiate (atone for or pay for) our transgressions.

If Deity did not die then what did happen?

Inspiration says Jesus rested [DA 769]. He died the 1st death for He did not remain conscious. He, as a whole Person, slept in the tomb but please remember that He retained His Deity. Thus, the power of an eternal life was still within Him. Second death is where no life whether dormant or active.

"The spirit of Jesus slept in the tomb with his body, and did not wing its way to Heaven, there to maintain a separate existence, and to look down upon the mourning disciples embalming the body from which it had taken flight. All that comprised the life and intelligence of Jesus remained with his body in the sepulcher; and when he came forth it was as a whole being; he did not have to summon his spirit from Heaven. He had power to lay down his life and to take it up again. {3SP 203.2}

Second Death

"The Captain of our salvation was perfected through suffering. His soul was made an offering for sin. It was necessary for the awful darkness to gather about His soul because of the withdrawal of the Father's love and favor, for

He was standing in the sinner's place, and this darkness every sinner must experience. The righteous One must suffer the condemnation and wrath of God, not in vindictiveness; for the heart of God yearned with greatest sorrow when His Son, <the Guiltless,> was suffering the penalty of sin. THIS SUNDERING OF THE DIVINE POWERS will never again occur throughout the eternal ages. {Ms93-1899.23}

There is an important point to understand here. Jesus had committed Himself into the hands of His Father [And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit: and having said thus, he gave up the ghost (Luke 23:46)] The Son of God placed His entire Being, even His Divinity, into the Father's hands. Had He sinned in any particular then He would have never lived again but we know He did not sin. Thus, the Father never took His Son's Deity away. And so the Son trusted that the Father would awaken Him according to the prophetic Word and this is what happened. He who died for the sins of the world was to remain in the tomb for the allotted time. He was in that stony prison house as a prisoner of divine justice, and he was responsible to the Judge of the universe. He was bearing the sins of the world, and his Father only could release him. {YI May 2, 1901, par. 8} Here we see that God the Father only could release His Son. Even though the Son "came forth from the grave to life that was in Himself" because His "Deity did not die" (SDABC Vol 5 pg. 1113) it was the Father who had to release Him. God did not give life to His Son at this time but woke Him up. These are great mysteries. So then what of the second death? The wages of sin is an everlasting death. It will be the experience of every unrepentent sinner. Yet those who are in Christ will not experience this for the second death has no power over them. Why not? Because Christ, in His Divine Person, has actually born our punishment. He was separated (aka: sundered) from the Father so that we would never have to be. He took our punishment. [Jason Smith]

"The instant man accepted the temptations of Satan, and did the very things God had said he should not do, Christ, the Son of God, stood between the living and the dead, saying, Let the punishment fall on Me. I will stand in man's place. He shall have another chance" (Letter 22, February 13, 1900)

Jesus was bearing the sin of the world; he was enduring the curse of the law; he was vindicating the justice of God. Separation from his Father, the punishment for transgression, was to fall upon him, in order to magnify God's law and testify to its immutability. And this was forever to settle the controversy between Satan and the Prince of heaven in regard to the changeless character of that law. (ST Dec 9, 1897)

"He suffered the death which was ours, that we might receive the life which was His. (DA pg. 25)

I believe this great and awful price of second death - an everlasting death - was experienced by Christ in His soul, in His Divine Person. He alone could pay this type of debt. As the begotten Son of God, a Being whose existence cannot be reckoned according to time, He is greater than even everlasting death. By this momentary sundering of Divine powers the everlasting death penalty was swallowed for humanity. This, to me, is the greatest proof the full Deity of the Son of God. The fact that He could pay a penalty like this in an instance by separating from the Father and yet still resurrect shows Him to be the Son of God beyond doubt. [Jason Smith]

"And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead (Rom 1:4)

Could Jesus die? Could He have lost His eternal existence? How did He pay the second death?

"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord (Rom 6:23)

"Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. (Heb 2:17)

According to Hebrews, the prerequisite for Jesus to be our High Priest is that He had to be made like us "in all things." If we face the risk of eternal non-existence but He did not then was He really made like us in all things? Of course not! The second death has to do with humanity, not deity. It was not a human person that died, if it was human then it becomes second death. But it is a divine being that died. That sundering is the price of the second death actually.

Bible Evidence

"Who in the days of his flesh, when he had offered up prayers and supplications with strong crying and tears unto him that was able to save him from death, and was heard in that he feared; (Heb 5:7)

Note: It would be a complete farce for the Son of God to be relying upon His Father as the One "able to save Him from death" if He did not actually really face such a possibility. When we add this to our first evidence, about the type of death He faced, then this is even stronger. Something also you notice in this verse is that he was saved from that death meaning he did not die it but paid the price of it i.e., the second death

Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; 15 And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage (Heb 2:14, 16)

“Never can the cost of our redemption be realized until the redeemed shall stand with the Redeemer before the throne of God. Then as the glories of the eternal home burst upon our enraptured senses we shall remember that Jesus left all this for us, that He not only became an exile from the heavenly courts, but for us took the risk of failure and eternal loss.” (Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages. Page 131 ‘The Victory’)

"Could Satan in the least particular have tempted Christ to sin, he would have bruised the Saviour's head. As it was, he could only touch His heel. Had the head of Christ been touched, the hope of the human race would have perished. Divine wrath would have come upon Christ as it came upon Adam. Christ and the church would have been without hope. {1SM 256.1}

You get that second death has not voluntarily laying down life. The second death is not something that wicked would want if they had a choice like Jesus. Yet Jesus laid his life down, he wasn't forced.

"How much more shall the blood of Christ, who THROUGH [Gr: dia] THE ETERNAL SPIRIT offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God? (Heb 9:14)

And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit: and having said thus, he gave up the ghost. (Luke 23:46)

We know of Christ that He was "a divine spirit" in a human temple of flesh.

"He united humanity with divinity: a divine spirit dwelt in a temple of flesh. He united himself with the temple.... {YI December 20, 1900, par. 7}

His statement in Luke 23:46 is a letting go of Himself, a surrendering to the death and trusting God the Father to wake Him back to life.

There is an interesting passage in Zechariah that sheds more light on the price and the paying of the penalty.

The price for redemption paid by them both

Zechariah 6:13 Even he shall build the temple of the LORD; and he shall bear the glory, and shall sit and rule upon his throne; and he shall be a priest upon his throne: and the counsel of peace shall be between them both.

Now, as surely as the counsel was between them both, so was the paying of the price:

"As the disciples comprehended it, as their perception took hold of God's divine compassion, they realized that there is a sense in which the sufferings of the Son were the sufferings of the Father. From eternity there was a complete unity between the Father and the Son. They were two, yet little short of being identical; two in individuality, yet one in spirit, and heart, and character. {YI December 16, 1897, par. 5}

That this redemption might be ours, God withheld not even the sacrifice of Himself. He gave Himself in His Son. The Father suffered with Christ in all His humiliation and agony. He suffered as He saw the Son of His love despised and rejected by those whom He came to elevate, ennoble, and save. He saw Him hanging upon the cross, mocked and jeered by the passers-by, and He hid as it were His face from Him. He saw Christ bearing the sin of the world, and dying in the sinner's stead. The human heart knows the love of a parent for his child. We know what a mother's love will do and suffer for her beloved one. But never can the heart of man fathom the depths of God's self-sacrifice. {AUCR, June 1, 1900 par. 11}

2 Corinthians 5:19 To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation.

Note above the paying of the debt of sin involved the Father too. It is only through simplistic definition of the penalty and price of sin that we conclude it's the second death

I wish to say that no human language could be framed to give a just conception of the fullness of the love of God, even the Infinite God, [who] suffered in His Son; and nothing He could express in His words or actions in doing and suffering could possibly exaggerate the conception of the grace of that great love of God wherewith He hath loved us. Now, what is required of every child of God? To search diligently "and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice" [Matthew 9:13]. Will all [respond] individually who claim to believe in Christ as their personal Saviour--all who truly believe Christ has developed the same in His individual members of His body, to multiply the similitude of His character in them? {16MR 193.1}

The cross! the cross! it is set up that we may understand and know the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom He has sent. It tells us of the depth and breadth of infinite love, the greatness of the Father's love. It reveals the astonishing truth that God the Father gave Himself in His Son, that He might have the joy of receiving back the sheep that was lost. {17MR 214.2}

(2 Corinthians 5:19; Philippians 2:6.) Satan Uprooted from Affections of the Universe. --In carrying out his enmity to Christ until He hung upon the cross of Calvary, with wounded, bruised body and broken heart, Satan completely uprooted himself from the affections of the universe. It was then seen that God had in His Son denied Himself, giving Himself for the sins of the world, because He loved mankind. The Creator was revealed in the Son of the infinite God. Here the question, "Can there be self-denial with God?" was forever answered. Christ was God, and condescending to be made flesh, He assumed humanity and became obedient unto death, that He might undergo infinite sacrifice (MS 50, 1900). {7BC 974.1}

God has measured how much it cost to save man. This salvation was accomplished only by the sacrifice of Himself in His Son. "God so loved the world, that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Earthly parents love their children. How then did God feel when the Son of His love was despised by those whom He came to elevate and ennoble and save? He saw Him dying on the cross, mocked at and jeered at by the passers-by, and He hid as it were His face from Him. Christ was bearing the sin of the whole world, and dying in the sinner's stead. Exalt the God of heaven, you who can realize the depth of His self-sacrifice; for He suffered with His Son. {ST, January 27, 1898 par. 13}

When man, beguiled by Satan, disobeyed the divine law, God could not, even to save the lost race, change that law. God is love; His law is an expression of His character. To change His law would be to deny Himself; it would overthrow those principles with which are bound up the well-being of the whole universe. But in order to save the sinner, the Creator sacrificed Himself. The Father suffered in His Son. The measure of God's love is Christ. The Saviour's sacrifice was not to create in God a love that had not before existed; but it was the expression of a love that had not been appreciated or understood. {BTS, February 1, 1908 par. 1}

"What manner of love is this, THAT THE ETERNAL GOD SHOULD ADOPT HUMAN NATURE IN THE PERSON OF HIS SON, and carry the same into the highest heaven!" (Ellen G White, Youth's Instructor, 29th July 1897, 'The gift of God's grace')

"God showed his love for us by adopting our nature, IN THE PERSON OF HIS SON. GOD HIMSELF INHABITED HUMANITY, making us partakers of the divine nature, that by the incarnation and death of his only begotten Son, our adoption as heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ might be fully accomplished." (Ellen G. White, Youth's Instructor, 16th December 1897, 'The New Commandment, Part 1')

"The gospel testifies THAT GOD IN HIS BOUNDLESS LOVE FOR MAN ASSUMED HUMANITY IN THE PERSON OF HIS SON." (Ellen G. White, Letter 164, September 1st 1900, To Sister Caro)

GOD HIMSELF BECAME MAN, AND BORE THE ENTIRE WRATH THAT SIN HAD PROVOKED." (Ellen G. White, Youth's Instructor, 31st August 1887, 'Search the Scriptures')

“The second temple was not honored with the cloud of Jehovah’s glory, but with the living presence of One in whom dwelt the fullness of the Godhead bodily, — WHO WAS GOD HIMSELF MANIFEST IN THE FLESH.” (Ellen G. White, Spirit of Prophecy Volume 4 page 24, ‘Destruction of Jerusalem’)

“The law of God could not be set aside even to save lost man. The well-being of the universe demanded that the divine government should be maintained. But in His infinite love and mercy, THE CREATOR SACRIFICED HIMSELF. IN HIS SON, GOD HIMSELF BORE THE PENALTY OF TRANSGRESSION, "that He might be just, and the justifier of him that believeth in Jesus." (Ellen G. White, Signs of the Times, 4th November 1908, ‘The plan of redemption’)

“Christ himself was the Word, the Wisdom, of God; AND IN HIM GOD HIMSELF CAME DOWN FROM HEAVEN, and clothed himself in the habiliments of humanity.” (Ellen G. White, Review and Herald, 1st February 1898, ‘The Plan of Redemption’)

“Because divinity alone could be efficacious in the restoration of man from the poisonous bruise of the serpent, GOD HIMSELF, IN HIS ONLY BEGOTTEN SON, ASSUMED HUMAN NATURE, and in the weakness of human nature sustained the character of God, vindicated his holy law in every particular, and accepted the sentence of wrath and death for the sons of men.” (Ellen G. White, Youth’s Instructor, February 11th 1897, ‘The Mind of Christ’)

“GOD DISPLAYED HIS POWER AND WISDOM IN THE WORK OF CREATION. He revealed his majesty in the giving of his law. And, finally, IN THE PERSON OF HIS SON, HE CAME TO THE WORLD TO SHOW HIS LOVE AND GRACE.” (Ellen G. White, Letter 75, November 16th 1902, To A. G. Daniells)

“GOD HAS ADOPTED HUMAN NATURE IN THE PERSON OF HIS SON, and has carried the same into the highest heavens.” (Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages, page 25, ‘God with us’)

From the quotes above it seems clear to me that the penalty of sin was paid by the Father through the son. Both of them paid it. The question to us then should be, at what point did the Father stop paying it and left the son to pay it only, I believe none. The divine sundering was the climax of that penalty. Something was torn from the Father and the Son. This was the great depth of the payment. Jesus lying lifeless in the tomb then cannot be the paying of the debt. It means more than that.

"The Captain of our salvation was perfected through suffering. HIS SOUL WAS MADE AN OFFERING FOR SIN. It was necessary for THE AWFUL

DARKNESS TO GATHER ABOUT HIS SOUL because of the withdrawal of the Father's love and favor, for He was standing in the sinner's place, and THIS DARKNESS every sinner must experience. The righteous One must suffer the condemnation and wrath of God, not in vindictiveness; for the heart of God yearned with greatest sorrow when His Son, <the Guiltless,> was suffering the penalty of sin. THIS SUNDERING OF THE DIVINE POWERS will never again occur throughout the eternal ages.... {Ms93-1899.2}

Note, if this darkness every sinner must experience then it is not just the death, they die but what they go through before the second death itself.

"It was not a dread of the physical suffering he was soon to endure that brought this agony upon the Son of God. He was enduring the penalty of man's transgression, and shuddering beneath the Father's frown. He must not call his divinity to his aid, but, as a man, he must bear the consequences of man's sin and the Creator's displeasure toward his disobedient subjects. AS HE FELT HIS UNITY WITH THE FATHER BROKEN UP, he feared that his human nature would be unable to endure the coming conflict with the prince of the power of darkness; and in that case the human race would be irrecoverably lost, Satan would be victor, and the earth would be his kingdom. The sins of the world weighed heavily upon the Saviour and bowed him to the earth; and the Father's anger in consequence of that sin seemed crushing out his life. {3SP 95.3}

This is the price and in it that is what saves him and us from the second death. If he paid this debt, then why suffer it even for himself. The experience itself was the penalty not the death per se.

"The spotless Son of God took upon Himself the burden of sin. He who had been one with God, felt in His soul, the awful separation that sin makes between God and man. This forced from the lips the anguished cry, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" It was the burden of sin, the sense of its terrible enormity, of its separation of the soul from God, —it was this that broke the heart of the Son of God. {BTS March 1, 1908, par. 3}

"It was only by the death of Christ that the human race could be redeemed. Man had broken the law of God, and Christ alone could atone for the transgression. But this great sacrifice was not made in order to create in the Father's heart a love for man, to make him willing to save. No, no. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." God suffered with His Son. In the agony of Gethsemane, the death of Calvary, THE HEART OF INFINITE LOVE PAID THE PRICE OF OUR REDEMPTION. "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." {BTS March 1, 1908, par. 4}

It will be interesting to see how we settle this matter. There is a mystery in it as it is in incarnation. The mystery behind it is veiled in divine sundering.

(1 Peter 1:11, 12.) The Incarnation a Painful Process. --The work of redemption is called a mystery, and it is indeed the mystery by which everlasting righteousness is brought to all who believe. The race in consequence of sin was at enmity with God. Christ, at an infinite cost, by a painful process, mysterious to angels as well as to men, assumed humanity. Hiding His divinity, laying aside His glory, He was born a babe in Bethlehem. In human flesh He lived the law of God, that He might condemn sin in the flesh, and bear witness to heavenly intelligences that the law was ordained to life and to ensure the happiness, peace, and eternal good of all who obey. But the same infinite sacrifice that is life to those who believe is a testimony of condemnation to the disobedient, speaking death and not life (MS 29, 1899).

Science is too limited to comprehend the atonement; the mysterious and wonderful plan of redemption is so far-reaching that philosophy cannot explain it; it will ever remain a mystery that the most profound reason cannot fathom. If it could be explained by finite wisdom, it would lose its sacredness and dignity. It is a mystery that One equal with the eternal Father should so abase Himself as to suffer the cruel death of the cross to ransom man; and it is a mystery that God so loved the world as to permit His son to make this great sacrifice. --The Signs of the Times, Oct. 24, 1906.

Desmond Diaz

My work is to present some of the pioneer's scrutiny on this subject and give at least a brief assessment of their views:

JAMES STEPHENSON (The Atonement) - The penalty of God's law for original sin is death, (not a first death.) Mark the import of the language in which the first penalty is clothed! "For in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die." "As in Adam all die," etc. The penalty for personal sin is equally explicit. "The wages of sin is death." (Not a second death, but simply death.) "Sin when finished bringeth forth death." To illustrate: The penalty in the State of Illinois for murder is death. Now, suppose a man to be executed according to their law, then to be raised from the dead, and executed a second time, for another offense, would the fact of the same man's being put to death a second time, make the penalty in that State, for murder, a first death? Certainly not. But, in case the same man should die a second time, it would be, in reference to its order, a first death. {1854 JMS, ATO 9.1}

Christ not having died a previous death, and not being exposed to a subsequent death, could die neither a first nor a second death, but, as the Scriptures plainly teach, "He died the death of the cross." "For if when we were sinners, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son," etc. Not a first, or a second death, but "the death." This brings us to consider the difficulties in the way of man's salvation: - {1854 JMS, ATO 10.1}

ELLET JOSEPH WAGGONER – (context - The penalty of disobedience in Eden was not removed by the substitution of Christ, it is stayed to be executed upon the wicked generally in the second death) ... Says Waggoner," In Adam all die," both righteous and wicked, men and little children; and "so Christ shall all be made alive." 1 Cor.15:22. Christ does this for all, because no one is to blame for being the descendant of Adam, and thus mortal. When all have been made alive, it will be seen who are worthy to have life continued to them, and those who have died in their iniquity shall die the second time. Ezek. 18:26. This is the death to which God had reference when he said to Adam, "In the day that thou eat this thereof, thou shalt surely die." That penalty has never been executed; through the kindness of God in Christ the execution of the penalty was stayed, in order to give fallen man another chance for his life. Christ tasted death for every man, and those who accept his sacrifice will escape the penalty for sin, but upon those who do not, it will fall grievously. {February 5, 1885 EJW, SITI 86.24}

ELLET JOSEPH WAGGONER (Differentiating first and second death) - "Being on my holidays, I have met with a few friends, who have given me certain numbers of PRESENT TRUTH to read, in which, among other questions, you have answered a question concerning the nature and destiny of man: I am greatly interested in the subject, and as an earnest seeker for truth I humbly ask you to oblige me with answers to the following questions: Is natural death, or what we term the first death, the result of sin? If it is, why could not belief in Christ remove it, since it removes the second death, or what we term eternal death? I shall be obliged for help out of the difficulty. {August 14, 1902 EJW, PTUK 515.4}

Your question goes to the root of the matter, and touches the very heart of the Gospel, and I am glad to help you with the testimony of God's Word. {August 14, 1902 EJW, PTUK 515.5}

Let us start with the apostle's statement that "by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned." Rom. v. 12. This is sufficient to establish the fact that death is indeed the fruit of sin. But for sin, there never would have been any death in the world. {August 14, 1902 EJW, PTUK 515.6}

Just here you may perhaps ask the question that so often is asked, "What kind of death is it that is the result of sin? The answer is simply, death. There are not two kinds of death, any more than there are two kinds of life. True, the Bible speaks of the first death, and the second death; but these are not two kinds of death, but death at two different times. {August 14, 1902 EJW, PTUK 515.7}

ELLET JOSEPH WAGGONER - "Will you be so kind as to explain your statement, 'When Adam fell, he brought the race of mankind under the sentence of eternal death? (SIGNS OF THE TIMES, July 7, 1890), with the fact that he did not die an eternal death? Did he suffer less than the penalty of the law? W.T.D." {August 4, 1890 EJW, SITI 433.1}

In answer to the second question we answer, yes; and that really answers the whole. If Adam had suffered the penalty of the law, he would have died an eternal death; for "the wages of sin is death." This means death simple and absolute, with no hope of a resurrection. The penalty of the law has fallen upon only one being, and that was Christ. "But he did not die an eternal death." No; he died for us, that we might be partakers of his life...{August 4, 1890 EJW, SITI 433.2}

URIAH SMITH (Here and Hereafter) - But immediately upon Adam's failure under that first arrangement, supervened the plan of salvation through Jesus Christ. Before the first penalty was fully carried out, there was time for Adam to have another trial; and through the intervention of Christ, this opportunity was given him. There was promised a "seed of the woman" who should bruise the serpent's head. Adam was placed upon a new probation. In the promised seed, the Redeemer, a new hope was set before him; and he was taught how to manifest faith in that Redeemer by typical services, sacrifices, and offerings. {1897 UrS, HHMLD 246.2}

This arrangement also looked forward into the future, and included all Adam's posterity; else we had had no hope. A pertinent inquiry now arises; namely, how could the sentence of death already rendered, be inflicted upon the whole human family so that there should be no sacrifice of authority, principle, or prestige on the part of God, and yet the new blessing of a hope of life through Christ be placed within their reach? - It could be done in this way: Let men live, and, without any reference to their own personal actions, let them die in Adam, as the apostle assures us that they do. This fulfils the Adamic penalty for the Adamic sin, under the Adamic covenant. Then let all men, irrespective of character, be brought by Christ out from this condition of Adamic death, into which they fell through no fault of their own, once more to the plane of life; and being then alive beyond the extreme limits of the effects of the Adamic covenant, and fall, and death penalty, nothing remains but that they answer for their own course of conduct; and receive such destiny as shall be determined thereby, - if guilty, through their own sins, to suffer the same penalty for their sin that Adam suffered for his, which is death, and which to them is the "second" death, and will be eternal, because no further plan of redemption relieves them from it, as Adam's would have been had it not been for the plan of salvation introduced by Christ; and if righteous, through faith in Christ, to enter then upon a life which will be eternal. {1897 UrS, HHMLD 246.3}

MY ASSESSMENT - There are more quotes yet from here, what we see is that, according to the pioneers, "death" simply is inflicted to the sinner; not a first death nor a second death but death as it is, the ceasing to live. When Christ became the Substitute, it is not in the plan to take away the penalty (for Adam & Eve still died) but, as EJ Waggoner said, to postpone the implementation of the penalty by granting a second probation and granting a general resurrection from the dead, whether good or evil. The general resurrection make the actual death today as temporary since all, good and evil, will rise back to life. When all rise back to life that is the end of the former death. If this is the end, according to the pioneers, there is no such thing as first and second death... but then, in the general resurrection, the problem of sin is still not solved, so in the wisdom of God, after this resurrection God through Christ will reward everyone according to their works... the righteous shall never taste death again but shall be rewarded with eternal life, that is why it is said the second death have no power over them: the wicked shall rise to suffer the penalty threatened in Eden but was stayed because of the Substitution of Christ. They shall rise to die the second time which is the second death in relation to the first one as to their occurrence. Here in this death, there is no resurrection. Thus, if we follow the scrutiny of the pioneers, only the wicked shall suffer the second death or only the wicked will suffer two deaths: 1. Because they inherited a mortal nature 2. They choose to reject Christ as their substitute.

This is from JH Waggoner on his book Atonement, he explicitly pointed the problem of “classifying the types or classes of death proposed” as penalty. It is assumed that death, the penalty of transgression, is THREE-FOLD IN ITS NATURE, consisting of temporal, spiritual, and eternal death. If this assumption were true, we should at once give up the Atonement as a thing impossible. Yet it has been advanced by men of eminence, and incorporated into works recognized as standard. Let us examine it. {1884 JHW, AERS 93.1}

1. The death of man is TEMPORAL only by reason of a resurrection. But the resurrection belongs to the work of Christ, and as his work was not necessary or a subject of promise till after the transgression, it cannot have any place in the announcement of the penalty. When death was threatened to Adam, it was not said that he should die temporally, spiritually, and eternally; nor that he should die a first or second death; nor the death that never dies; but that he should surely die. It was death--simply death. Had not a promise been given afterward, of "the seed" to bruise the serpent's head, it would necessarily have been eternal death. But Christ, introducing a resurrection for Adam and his race, causes it to be temporal. But since this time, this death, temporal, has not been the penalty for personal transgression. This is evident for two reasons: (1) Infants die who never have transgressed; and (2) In the Judgment we stand to answer for our deeds, and the second death is inflicted for personal sin. But on those who are holy, "the second death hath no power;" the penalty does not reach them. So it appears the death we now die is occasioned by Adam's transgression, and is rendered temporal by the second Adam, and comes indiscriminately upon all classes and ages, thus precluding the idea that it is now a penalty, except as connected with that first transgression, in which we are involved only by representation. {1884 JHW, AERS 93.2}

2. SPIRITUAL DEATH cannot be a penalty at all. A penalty is an infliction to meet the ends of justice. But spiritual death is a state of sin, or absence of holiness; and to say that God inflicts unholiness upon man is not only absurd, but monstrous. That is confounding the crime with its punishment. God does not make man wicked or sinful as an infliction; but man makes himself wicked by his own actions, and God punishes him with death for his wickedness. {1884 JHW, AERS 94.1}

Again, there will be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and the unjust; for as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive. Now if the penalty upon Adam included spiritual death, the resurrection through the second Adam would be to spiritual life, or holiness; and if all were restored to spiritual life through Christ, there would be none to fall under the second death, for it falls not on the "blessed and holy." {1884 JHW, AERS 94.2}

The text above quoted, 1 Cor. 15:22, "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive," has been "spiritualized" so much that it has been fairly conceded to the Universalists by many who call themselves orthodox. {1884 JHW, AERS 94.3}

But it does not at all favor Universalism unless it is perverted, and made to conflict with other scriptures. Jesus says, all that are in the graves shall hear the voice of the Son of man, and come forth; they that have done good to the resurrection of life, and they that have done evil to the resurrection of damnation. The text in question (1 Cor. 15:22) says no more than this, that all that have died shall have a resurrection; but if some are unjust, and have a resurrection to damnation, that affords no help to Universalism. But if death here means spiritual death (as we say it does not), then the Universalists must have the truth; for to be made alive from spiritual death is to be made spiritually alive, which is none other than a state of holiness. This conflicts with the words of Christ just quoted, of a resurrection to damnation. Death is simply the absence of life; all die and go into the grave, and all are raised again from the grave, without respect to their character or condition. There will be a resurrection of the just and of the unjust; one class to eternal life, the other to the second death. The death of Adam became temporal by reason of a resurrection, so we may say that the infliction for personal sins, the second death, is eternal, because no resurrection will succeed it. Thus, it appears plain that from the beginning death was the penalty of the law of God, circumstances determining the duration of it. This view, which is in strict harmony with the Bible, really removes all difficulty in regard to Christ having suffered the penalty due to sin. {1884 JHW, AERS 95.1}

But still another difficulty is presented to us by giving an extraordinary definition to death; it is said to mean eternal misery. But on examination of this, the difficulty will be entirely on the side of those who present it. If, however, the definition is correct, there is an insurmountable difficulty, involving the whole doctrine of the atonement, and making it utterly impossible for God to be just, and also the justifier of him that believeth in Jesus. {1884 JHW, AERS 96.1}

First, then, if the signification of death is "eternal misery," Christ never died at all; and then all the scriptures that say he died are untrue; and thus the atonement would be proved impossible, and further consideration of it would be useless. But admitting the Scripture testimony, that the wages of sin is death, and that Christ died for sin, and we have the scriptural view of the term death, utterly forbidding such an unnatural and forced construction of a plain declaration. {1884 JHW, AERS 96.2}

Secondly, if the correct definition of death is eternal misery, the relative terms, first and second, as applied to death before and after the resurrection, are used absurdly. For how can there be a first and second eternal misery? Sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and death passed upon all men. But the very fact that man may be resurrected, released from death, as the Scriptures teach, clearly proves that the Scripture use of the term death is entirely different from the "theological use," as given above. {1884 JHW, AERS 96.3}

And, thirdly, If death means eternal misery, then that is the penalty of the law; but Christ did not suffer it, and the redeemed will not suffer it, so it follows that justice is never vindicated by the infliction of the penalty, either upon them or a substitute; and thus justice is suspended, not satisfied; and Christ's death (if it could with any reason be called so) is not truly vicarious. As before considered, justice demands the infliction of the penalty of a just law; and as God is unchangeable and infinitely just, the penalty will surely be inflicted upon the transgressor or his substitute. But the above view makes it impossible. According to that, mercy does not harmonize with justice, but supersedes it, and God's justice is not manifest in justifying the believer. The sum of the matter is this: that if the penalty be eternal misery, then all that have sinned must suffer it, and be eternally miserable, or else the demands of the law are never honored. But the first would result in universal damnation, and the other would degrade the Government of God, and contradict both reason and the Scriptures. {1884 JHW, AERS 96.4}

JAMES STEPHENSON – Having the second line of interpretation states then: The difficulties in the way of man's salvation, which renders an atonement necessary. They are: - {1854 JMS, ATO 8.2} 1.

The penalty of God's law for Adamic, or original transgression. {1854 JMS, ATO 8.3} 2.

The penalty for individual, or personal transgression. {1854 JMS, ATO 8.4}

To have clear views of the relation these penalties sustain to the atonement, it is of great importance that we understand, first, the relation they sustain to each other. They are denominated by some writers, a first and second death. But the terms first and second, are relative terms, pointing out the order in which the events specified occur. They are in all cases dependent on the supposed or actual existence of each other. A second supposes a first, and a first supposes a second. Death, being the negative of life, must be preceded by life, hence a first and second death must be preceded by a first and second life. It would, therefore, be just as proper to call the rewards of the gospel a first and second life, as to call the penalties of the law a first and second death. The same that would make these a first and second would those also. There must be two lives and two deaths, to make either a first or a second. But had not the scheme of redemption been devised, man would never have lived a second life, consequently, could never have died a second death. What, in such case, would the penalty have been for the sin of our first parents? Would it have been a first death? Nay, verily; because no second would ever succeed it; hence it could not be a first. But, from the fact that man is actually exposed to two deaths, we call the one that occurs first, a first death, and the one that occurs second, a second death, just as we speak of a first and second life, a first and second birth, and a first and second Adam, simply to denote their order, and not their nature. {1854 JMS, ATO 8.5}

Andy White

I believe that the experience that Christ went through was similar to what those who experience the second death will experience. He felt the displeasure of God and felt forsaken.

Mark 15:34 And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

"It was the sense of sin, bringing the Father's wrath upon Him as man's substitute, that made the cup He drank so bitter, and broke the heart of the Son of God." {DA 753.2}

Being that He bore the weight of the sin of the whole world, His anguish may have been even worse than what will be felt by those who experience the second death.

"The withdrawal of the divine countenance from the Saviour in this hour of supreme anguish pierced His heart with a sorrow that can never be fully understood by man." {DA 753.1}

If I understand that quote correctly, then men dying the second death won't even be able to FULLY understand the anguish that Christ felt.

Many people will die today, some may be sincere Christians who will have eternal life and others not so. Those Christians can die in peace and even those who will be lost won't necessarily know it, and won't feel the displeasure of God during their first death. So that is one way in which the first and second death differs.

But there is a more eternal consequence of the second death: it is permanent. However, we know that Jesus was resurrected. Those who experience the second death will not be resurrected. So in that respect Christ's death upon the cross, which wasn't permanent, is markedly different than that of the second death.

I will add that although Christ felt forsaken, that feeling was removed before his death. It brings joy to my heart to read the last two sentences of the next quote.

"Amid the awful darkness, apparently forsaken of God, Christ had drained the last dregs in the cup of human woe. In those dreadful hours He had relied upon the evidence of His Father's acceptance heretofore given Him. He was acquainted with the character of His Father; He understood His justice, His mercy, and His great love. By faith He rested in Him whom it had ever been His joy to obey. And as in submission He committed Himself to God, the sense of the loss of His Father's favor was withdrawn. By faith, Christ was victor." {DA 756.3}

For those who experience the second death, the sense of the loss of God's favor will never be withdrawn. So being that His death was similar in one respect to the second death, but vitally different in other ways from the second death, I would have to say that Christ didn't experience the second death. This is because He didn't die with the sense of the loss of His Father's favor and the grave could not hold Him.

It may be argued that He did experience the second death, but that He was resurrected afterwards. And maybe I could agree with that, if it weren't for the other difference that the sense of the loss of His Father's favor was withdrawn.

I think this is the main take away: The wages of sin is death. Christ paid those wages for us by his death. I think that the second death is called the second death because it comes after the first. That may seem obvious of course, but I think it is worth stating. The feelings during the dying are different between the first and second death (third death for some who come up at the special resurrection), as I have mentioned, but death is death. We understand the state of the dead and the nature of Christ. We don't believe that part of Christ remained alive between His death on the cross and His resurrection, but that He truly died. He truly died for our sins. He truly died for my sins. "Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends. - John 15:13"

Jason SmithDEITY DID NOT DIE:

Now just as certain of my trinitarian brethren struggle with (or reject) the idea that the Son of God could have lost His eternal existence or Deity (i.e. He would have actually have died) so also some of my non-trinitarian brethren struggle with (or reject) the idea that His Deity did not die. Yet this is a clear teaching of the Bible and SOP too.

Proof 1:

19 Jesus answered and said unto them, Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up. 20 Then said the Jews, Forty and six years was this temple in building, and wilt thou rear it up in three days? 21 But he spake of the temple of his body. (John 2:19-21)

17 Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. 18 No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father (John 10:17-19)

The Bible is very clear here. Jesus stated "I will raise it [My human body] up" and He explained that God the Father told Him to lay down His life and then take it back up again. He had the power to do this. Now if anyone else said this, even an angel, it would be insanity! Remember the Son of God had two distinct individualities within Himself that were inseparably one. The two expressions "human" and "divine" were, in Christ, CLOSELY AND INSEPARABLY ONE, and yet they had a distinct individuality. {ST May 10, 1899, par. 11} This is a part of the mystery of godliness. Jesus was well aware of what His Divine individuality enabled Him to do (i.e. resurrect Himself).

Proof 2:

We see a very clear statement from sister White that confirms what is above.

"As a member of the human family, He was mortal; BUT AS A GOD, HE WAS THE FOUNTAIN OF LIFE TO THE WORLD. HE COULD, IN HIS DIVINE PERSON, EVER HAD WITHSTOOD THE ADVANCES OF DEATH, AND REFUSED TO COME UNDER ITS DOMINION; but He voluntarily laid down His life, that in so doing He might give life and bring immortality to light. He bore the sins of the world, and ENDURED THE PENALTY, WHICH ROLLED LIKE A MOUNTAIN UPON HIS DIVINE SOUL. He yielded up His life a sacrifice, that man should not eternally die. He died, not through being compelled to die, but by His own free will. This was humility. The whole treasure of heaven was poured out in one gift to save fallen man. He brought into His human nature all the life-giving energies that human beings will need and must receive. {5BC 1127.1}

Wondrous combination of man and God! HE MIGHT HAVE HELPED HIS HUMAN NATURE TO WITHSTAND THE INROADS OF DISEASE BY POURING FROM HIS DIVINE NATURE VITALITY AN UNDECAYING VIGOR TO THE HUMAN. But He humbled Himself to man's nature. He did this that the Scripture might be fulfilled; and the plan was entered into by the Son of God, knowing all the steps in His humiliation, that He must descend to make an expiation for the sins of a condemned, groaning world. What humility was this! It amazed angels. The tongue can never describe it; the imagination cannot take it in. The eternal Word consented to be made flesh! God became man! It was a wonderful humility. {5BC 1127.2}

Do you see it? Jesus could have tapped into His Divine nature and used It to sustain His human one. This is actually the resource which enabled Him to speak of Himself as self-resurrecting. I hope this is clear. Also please keep this quote in mind because we will return to it again. And again let us also remember that His Deity could be lost. This is how He, even as a God, could have ceased to exist. So He had the exact same risk as we do but His risk of death is found in the conditional retention of His Deity. I hope this is clear.

Proof 3:

When Christ was crucified, it was HIS HUMAN NATURE THAT DIED. Deity did not sink and die; that would have been impossible. (MR 21 pg 418)

When the voice of the angel was heard saying, “Thy Father calls thee,” HE who had said, “I lay down my life, that I might take it again,” “Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up,” CAME FORTH FROM THE GRAVE TO LIFE THAT WAS IN HIMSELF. DEITY DID NOT DIE. HUMANITY DIED, but Christ now proclaims over the rent sepulcher of Joseph, “I am the resurrection, and the life.” In His divinity Christ possessed the power to break the bonds of death. (SDABC Vol 5 pg 1113)

“I am the resurrection, and the life.” He who had said, “I lay down my life, that I might take it again,” came forth from the grave to life that was in Himself. HUMANITY DIED: DIVINITY DID NOT DIE. In His divinity, Christ possessed the power to break the bonds of death. He declares that He has life in Himself to quicken whom He will. (YI Jan 3, 1905; SM bk 1 pg 301)

"Jesus Christ laid off His royal robe, His kingly crown, and clothed His divinity with humanity, in order to become a substitute and surety for humanity, that DYING IN HUMANITY He might by His death destroy him who had the power of death. HE COULD NOT HAVE DONE THIS AS GOD, BUT BY COMING AS MAN CHRIST COULD DIE... {Lt97-1898.11} Now let's move on to what I was asked about.

DID EGW CONTRADICT HERSELF?

"When Christ was crucified, it was His human nature that died. DEITY DID NOT SINK AND DIE; that would have been impossible. (MR 21 pg 418)

"There is no one who can explain the mystery of the incarnation of Christ. Yet we know that He came to this earth and lived as a man among men. The man Christ Jesus was not the Lord God Almighty, yet Christ and the Father are one. THE DEITY DID NOT SINK UNDER THE AGONIZING TORTURE OF CALVARY, yet it is none the less true that "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." {Ms140-1903.28}

"Men need to understand that DEITY SUFFERED AND SANK UNDER THE AGONIES OF CALVARY. Yet Jesus Christ whom God gave for the ransom of the world purchased the church with His own blood. The Majesty of heaven was made to suffer at the hands of religious zealots, who claimed to be the most enlightened people upon the face of the earth. {Ms153-1898.21}

What are we to make of these statements? Here are my observations:

1) In all 3 statements Deity did not die.

- A) Statement 1- Deity did not sink AND DIE
- B) Statement 2 - The Deity did not sink under the agonizing torture of Calvary
- C) Statement 3- Deity suffered and sank under the agonies of Calvary.

2) In the 2nd and 3rd statement, which do seem to contradict each other, we see the definite article "the" in only one of the statements.

- A) Statement 2 - THE Deity did not sink
- B) Statement 3- Deity suffered and sank

It would seem to me that the solution here is that when sister White speaks of "THE Deity" which did not sink under Calvary's torture she is speaking of God the Father. Notice in that quote she has differentiated the Lord God Almighty (the Father) from the Man Christ Jesus. And when she says that Deity suffered and sank under Calvary's torture she is there speaking of the Son. And again please bear in mind that in none of the statements does Deity die. So then why would the Son as Deity sink at Calvary but not "the Deity" (aka: the Father)? I believe the answer is found in the quote mentioned previously to which we now return.

"He bore the sins of the world, and ENDURED THE PENALTY, WHICH ROLLED LIKE A MOUNTAIN UPON HIS DIVINE SOUL... {5BC 1127.1}

It was the Divine Person of the Son who took the "sins of the world" which was "like a mountain upon His Divine soul." He was the One who felt this weight and this is what caused a sinking. There is no contradiction here. EGW never taught that Deity died.

SO THEN WHAT DID HAPPEN AT CALVARY?

If Deity did not die then what did happen? I believe two things. Let's look at the first.

I believe the Son of God slept. He died the 1st death for He did not remain conscious. He, as a whole Person, slept in the tomb but please remember that He retained His Deity. Thus the power of an eternal life was still within Him.

“The spirit of Jesus slept in the tomb with his body, and did not wing its way to Heaven, there to maintain a separate existence, and to look down upon the mourning disciples embalming the body from which it had taken flight. All that comprised the life and intelligence of Jesus remained with his body in the sepulcher; and when he came forth it was as a whole being; he did not have to summon his spirit from Heaven. He had power to lay down his life and to take it up again. {3SP 203.2}

Now let's look at the second. As we noted above the weight of the sins of the world was placed upon Christ. It was like a mountain upon His Divine soul. And something actually happened with the Oneness that existed between the Son and Father. It was sundered.

“The Captain of our salvation was perfected through suffering. His soul was made an offering for sin. It was necessary for the awful darkness to gather about His soul because of the withdrawal of the Father’s love and favor, for He was standing in the sinner’s place, and this darkness every sinner must experience. The righteous One must suffer the condemnation and wrath of God, not in vindictiveness; for the heart of God yearned with greatest sorrow when His Son, <the Guiltless,> was suffering the penalty of sin. THIS SUNDERING OF THE DIVINE POWERS will never again occur throughout the eternal ages. {Ms93-1899.23} Now there is an important point to understand here. Jesus had committed Himself into the hands of His Father. Remember His prayer? *And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit: and having said thus, he gave up the ghost (Luke 23:46) The Son of God placed His entire Being, even His Divinity, into the Father’s hands. Had He sinned in any particular then He would have never lived again but we know He did not sin. Thus the Father never took His Son’s Deity away. And so the Son trusted that the Father would awaken Him according to the prophetic Word and this is what happened. He who died for the sins of the world was to remain in the tomb for the allotted time. He was in that stony prison house as a prisoner of divine justice, and he was responsible to the Judge of the universe. He was bearing the sins of the world, and his Father only could release him. {YI May 2, 1901, par. 8} Here we see that God the Father only could release His Son. Even though the Son “came forth from the grave to life that was in Himself” because His “Deity did not die” (SDABC Vol 5 pg 1113) it was the Father who had to release Him. God did not give life to His Son at this time but woke Him up. These are great mysteries. So then what of the 2nd death? As we spoke of much earlier in this document, the wages of sin is an everlasting death. It will be the experience of every unrepentant sinner. Yet those who are in Christ will not experience this for the 2nd death has no power over them. Why not? Because Christ, in His Divine Person, has actually born our punishment. He was separated (aka: sundered) from the Father so that we would never have to be. He took our punishment.

"The instant man accepted the temptations of Satan, and did the very things God had said he should not do, Christ, the Son of God, stood between the living and the dead, saying, "Let the punishment fall on Me. I will stand in man's place. He shall have another chance" (Letter 22, February 13, 1900)

Jesus was bearing the sin of the world; he was enduring the curse of the law; he was vindicating the justice of God. Separation from his Father, the punishment for transgression, was to fall upon him, in order to magnify God's law and testify to its immutability. And this was forever to settle the controversy between Satan and the Prince of heaven in regard to the changeless character of that law. (ST Dec 9, 1897)

"He suffered the death which was ours, that we might receive the life which was His. (DA pg 25)

I believe this great and awful 2nd death - an everlasting death- was experienced by Christ in His soul, in His Divine Person. He alone could pay this type of debt. As the begotten Son of God, a Being whose existence cannot be reckoned according to time, He is greater than even everlasting death. By this momentary sundering of Divine powers the everlasting death penalty was swallowed for humanity. This, to me, is the greatest proof the full Deity of the Son of God. The fact that He could pay a penalty like this in an instance by separating from the Father and yet still resurrect shows Him to be the Son of God beyond doubt.

"And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead (Rom 1:4)

"He is coming to us by His Holy Spirit today. Let us recognize Him now; then we shall recognize Him when He comes in the clouds of heaven, with power and great glory. God calls upon you to get ready to meet Him in peace. {RH April 30, 1901, Art. D, par. 8}

So, could Jesus die? Could He have lost His eternal existence? How did He pay the 2nd death?

My answer to that question is yes.

In your letter in regard to the temptations of Christ, you say: "If He was One with God He could not fall." . . . The point you inquire of me is, In our Lord's great scene of conflict in the wilderness, apparently under the power of Satan and his angels, was He capable, in His human nature, of yielding to these temptations? {3SM 129.2} I will try to answer this important question: As God He could not be tempted: but as a man He could be tempted, and that strongly, and could yield to the temptations. His human nature must pass through the same test and trial Adam and Eve passed through. HIS HUMAN NATURE WAS CREATED; IT DID NOT EVEN POSSESS THE ANGELIC POWERS. It was human, identical with our own. He was passing over the ground where Adam fell. He was now where, if He endured the test and trial in behalf of the fallen race, He would redeem Adam's disgraceful failure and fall, in our own humanity. {3SM 129.3}

The human will of Christ would not have led him to the wilderness of temptation, to fast, and to be tempted of the devil. It would not have led him to endure humiliation, scorn, reproach, suffering, and death. His human nature shrank from all these things as decidedly as ours shrinks from them. He endured the contradiction of sinners against himself. The contrast between the life and character of Christ and our life and character is painful to contemplate. What did Christ live to do? It was the will of his heavenly Father. Christ left us an example, that we should follow in his steps. Are we doing it? {ST, October 29, 1894 par. 9}

The work of redemption passed before Him, from the time when in heaven the plan was laid, to the death that was now so near at hand. A mysterious cloud seemed to enshroud the Son of God. Its gloom was felt by those near Him. He sat rapt in thought. At last the silence was broken by His mournful voice, "Now is My soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save Me from this hour?" In anticipation Christ was already drinking the cup of bitterness. His humanity shrank from the hour of abandonment, when to all appearance He would be deserted even by God, when all would see Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. He shrank from public exposure, from being treated as the worst of criminals, from a shameful and dishonored death. {DA 624.3} Then came divine submission to His Father's will. "For this cause," He said, "came I unto this hour. Father, glorify Thy name." Only through the death of Christ could Satan's kingdom be overthrown. Only thus could man be redeemed, and God be glorified. Jesus consented to the agony, He accepted the sacrifice. The Majesty of heaven consented to suffer as the Sin Bearer. "Father, glorify Thy name," He said. As Christ spoke these words, a response came from the cloud which hovered above His head: "I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again." Christ's whole life, from the manger to the time when these words were spoken, had glorified God; and in the coming trial His divine-human sufferings would indeed glorify His Father's name. {DA 624.4}

B) "...I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again....(John 10:18b)

When Jesus says I have power to lay it down and take it up, this is an open acknowledgement of what the blend of His humanity and Divinity allowed for Him to do or, maybe a better way of saying this, is what it allowed God to do for Him and through Him. It was actually His human nature that enabled Him to die, even though He was yet a Divine Person too.

"Jesus Christ laid off His royal robe, His kingly crown, and clothed His divinity with humanity, in order to become a substitute and surety for humanity, that DYING IN HUMANITY He might by His death destroy him who had the power of death. HE COULD NOT HAVE DONE THIS AS GOD, BUT BY COMING AS MAN CHRIST COULD DIE... {Lt97-1898.11}

And it was the retention of His Divine nature, even in death, that allowed for Him to take His life back up again. That is, be awoken from death by His Father. Not given new life but awakened to the life that was dormant within Himself.

"When the voice of the angel was heard saying, "Thy Father calls thee," He who had said, "I lay down my life, that I might take it again," "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up," CAME FORTH FROM THE GRAVE TO LIFE THAT WAS IN HIMSELF. DEITY DID NOT DIE. HUMANITY DIED, but Christ now proclaims over the rent sepulcher of Joseph, "I am the resurrection, and the life." IN HIS DIVINITY CHRIST POSSESSED THE POWER TO BREAK THE BONDS OF DEATH. (SDABC Vol 5 pg 1113)

C) "...This commandment have I received of my Father. (John 10:18c)

When Jesus said this, we see His total dependence upon God the Father. This is the great statement of faith from the Lord Jesus Christ. In other words He knew that He would die. That He would have the experience! He knows what it is like, it is nothingness, no conscious existence, and He also knew that His Father would wake Him up from it. Thus He had to trust God in death just like we have to trust Him in death! Do you understand?

Christ was still to exercise divine power, in the creation of the earth and its inhabitants. But in all this He would not seek power or exaltation for Himself contrary to God's plan, but would exalt the Father's glory and execute His purposes of beneficence and love. {PP 36.2}

He not only tasted death for every man (Heb 2:9) but did so in order to take away our fear of it! He said, in effect, by faith in God the Father, I will go into the grave and face your greatest fear for you. Then, when you see me conquer it you will have a reason to no longer be afraid of it, if you are in me. Again do you understand?

Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; 15 And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage (Heb 2:14, 16)

Yet His death was no farce. He could not resurrect Himself because He was not alive and conscious. I would note though that the popular Trinitarian teaching that His Divinity stayed alive has a grain of truth in it but if articulated poorly it is misleading because people will interpret that to mean that Jesus' two natures separated (or experienced two different things) at death with the Divine one remaining conscious while the human one experienced the unconscious slumber of death. Yet this was not so. Jesus, as a whole Person, slept in the tomb. He did not go outside of Himself at death.

"The spirit of Jesus slept in the tomb with his body, and did not wing its way to Heaven, there to maintain a separate existence, and to look down upon the mourning disciples embalming the body from which it had taken flight. All that comprised the life and intelligence of Jesus remained with his body in the sepulcher; and when he came forth it was as a whole being; he did not have to summon his spirit from Heaven. He had power to lay down his life and to take it up again. {3SP 203.2}

So only His Father could raise Him so John 10:18c was the ultimate expression of faith on the part of the Son of God!

"He was in that stony prison house as a prisoner of divine justice, and he was responsible to the Judge of the universe. He was bearing the sins of the world, and his Father only could release him. {YI May 2, 1901, par. 8}

We must understand, again, that God did NOT breathe new life into Son but rather awakened Him to the Divine life that was dormant within Himself. His Divinity did not die (that is, it did not cease to exist).

"...Though Christ humbled Himself to become man, the Godhead was still His own. His Deity could not be lost WHILE He stood faithful and true to His loyalty...{ST May 10, 1899, par. 11}

Did you catch it? You see He retained His Deity but put it on a conditional basis. It could not be lost WHILE He stood faithful and true. Many do not understand the length of the chain let down to rescue us and how great of a condescension the only begotten Son of God made for us. He actually altered His nature to make this possible.

"...Christ, at an infinite cost, by a painful process, mysterious to angels as well as to men, assumed humanity...{Ms29-1899.4}

Thus He paid an infinite cost and had a painful process just to become one of us! That, by itself, is amazing!

"Jesus Christ laid off His royal robe, His kingly crown, and clothed His divinity with humanity, in order to become a substitute and surety for humanity, that DYING IN HUMANITY He might by His death destroy him who had the power of death. HE COULD NOT HAVE DONE THIS AS GOD, BUT BY COMING AS MAN CHRIST COULD DIE... {Lt97-1898.11}

And so here we find how the Son of God risked death and staked His own eternal existence on the controversy.

"Remember that Christ risked all; "tempted like as we are," he STAKED EVEN HIS OWN ETERNAL EXISTENCE upon the issue of the conflict." (Ellen G. White, General Conference Bulletin 1st December 1895 'Seeking the Lost')

"Never can the cost of our redemption be realized until the redeemed shall stand with the Redeemer before the throne of God. Then as the glories of the eternal home burst upon our enraptured senses we shall remember that Jesus left all this for us, that He not only became an exile from the heavenly courts, but for us took the risk of failure and eternal loss." (Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages. Page 131 'The Victory')

"Could Satan in the least particular have tempted Christ to sin, he would have bruised the Saviour's head. As it was, he could only touch His heel. Had the head of Christ been touched, the hope of the human race would have perished. Divine wrath would have come upon Christ as it came upon Adam. Christ and the church would have been without hope. {1SM 256.1}

Now there is one last point to be addressed here. Since the wages of sin is everlasting death (see Bible evidence # 1 above) then this must have somehow been paid for us. How then could Christ pay an everlasting death yet resurrect? Should He have remained in the grave, forever separated from God continually paying our sin debt from that point forward?

Honestly, if your theology subjects God and His Son to time then I do not see how you can avoid an answer of yes. If, however, your theology believes that God made the ages through His Son (see Heb 1:2) then there is an answer. He would transcend time, just like His Father, being begotten from all eternity. That is, His realm or mode of existence, the place from whence His goings forth (or origins - Heb: motswah) is not to be reckoned, even cannot ever be reckoned by time. While we cannot, ourselves, relate to God in any other dimension but time and thus we speak of Him as the Ancient of days or the days of eternity past, there is nevertheless a simultaneous conception of "eternity" (Heb: olam) in the heart that prevents us from fathoming His work from beginning to end (Eccl 3:11). This is the prerogative and realm of the only begotten Son. Only He can touch God in fullness if you will, being the Son of His substance.

Consequently, how the everlasting death penalty was paid, as though the eternal Spirit which was shared between Father and Son.

"How much more shall the blood of Christ, who THROUGH [Gr: dia] THE ETERNAL SPIRIT offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God? (Heb 9:14)

And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit: and having said thus, he gave up the ghost. (Luke 23:46)

We know of Christ that He was "a divine spirit" in a human temple of flesh.

"He united humanity with divinity: a divine spirit dwelt in a temple of flesh. He united himself with the temple.... {YI December 20, 1900, par. 7}

His statement in Luke 23:46 is a letting go of Himself, a surrendering to the death and trusting God the Father to wake Him back to life. And even more than this it was a separation of Their oneness in spirit.

"As the disciples comprehended it, as their perception took hold of God's divine compassion, they realized that there is a sense in which the sufferings of the Son were the sufferings of the Father. From eternity there was a complete unity between the Father and the Son. They were two, yet little short of being identical; two in individuality, yet one in spirit, and heart, and character. {YI December 16, 1897, par. 5}

"The Captain of our salvation was perfected through suffering. HIS SOUL WAS MADE AN OFFERING FOR SIN. It was necessary for THE AWFUL DARKNESS TO GATHER ABOUT HIS SOUL because of the withdrawal of the Father's love and favor, for He was standing in the sinner's place, and THIS DARKNESS every sinner must experience. The righteous One must suffer the condemnation and wrath of God, not in vindictiveness; for the heart of God yearned with greatest sorrow when His Son, <the Guiltless,> was suffering the penalty of sin. THIS SUNDERING OF THE DIVINE POWERS will never again occur throughout the eternal ages.... {Ms93-1899.2}

"It was not a dread of the physical suffering he was soon to endure that brought this agony upon the Son of God. He was enduring the penalty of man's transgression, and shuddering beneath the Father's frown. He must not call his divinity to his aid, but, as a man, he must bear the consequences of man's sin and the Creator's displeasure toward his disobedient subjects. AS HE FELT HIS UNITY WITH THE FATHER BROKEN UP, he feared that his human nature would be unable to endure the coming conflict with the prince of the power of darkness; and in that case the human race would be irrecoverably lost, Satan would be victor, and the earth would be his kingdom. The sins of the world weighed heavily upon the Saviour and bowed him to the earth; and the Father's anger in consequence of that sin seemed crushing out his life. {3SP 95.3}

God the Father and His only begotten Son, who were one in spirit, Both possessing the fullness of the Godhead bodily, were sundered! They were split apart! Something happened internally between the Two. The Divine powers (Father and Son) were separated - the holy Spirit, which, though a person (internally shared person?), is the power and presence of God - something mysterious happened that level in terms of the linkage between Father and Son. And here the 2nd death was swallowed! Only a greater than all eternity future, if you will, can pay this and resurrect. This is why His resurrection is the greatest and most irrefutable proof of His Divinity!

And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead: (Rom 1:4)

"The spotless Son of God took upon Himself the burden of sin. He who had been one with God, felt in His soul, the awful separation that sin makes between God and man. This forced from the lips the anguished cry, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" It was the burden of sin, the sense of its terrible enormity, of its separation of the soul from God,—it was this that broke the heart of the Son of God. {BTS March 1, 1908, par. 3}

"It was only by the death of Christ that the human race could be redeemed. Man had broken the law of God, and Christ alone could atone for the transgression. But this great sacrifice was not made in order to create in the Father's heart a love for man, to make him willing to save. No, no. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." God suffered with His Son. In the agony of Gethsemane, the death of Calvary, THE HEART OF INFINITE LOVE PAID THE PRICE OF OUR REDEMPTION. "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." {BTS March 1, 1908, par. 4}

POSSESSORS OF ETERNAL LIFE - [THE POWER OF RIGHTEOUSNESS BY FAITH]

The discussions continue on the nature of Christ, what he was divested off, laid aside and what this really means to us but moreso what it offer to us. In this short treatise, I try to deal with the issue at stake. Though not exhaustive, I believe that it is a stepping stone to more truth that will shine clearly and more brighter previously hidden under the rubbish of tradition. I pray that the Lord of all comfort will give us comfort in our hearts as we explore this together.

Disclaimer:

Any words you find in brackets [] and capitalized are mine for emphasis. They do not belong to the EGW or pioneers. I do not want anyone to be misled. But the words in quotations “ ” belongs to EGW

Divested of what?

When people talk of Christ being divested of the divine power, one of the quotes that come up is

- When Jesus was awakened to meet the storm, He was in perfect peace. There was no trace of fear in word or look, for no fear was in His heart. But He rested not in the possession of almighty power. It was not as the “Master of earth and sea and sky” that He reposed in quiet. That power He had laid down, and He says, “I *can of Mine own self do nothing.” John 5:30. He trusted in the Father’s might. It was in faith—faith in God’s love and care—that Jesus rested, and the power of that word which stilled the storm was the power of God. DA 336.1
- But I believe the above is talking about his human nature not his divinity. Notice it says that “It was not as the “Master of earth and sea and sky” that He reposed in quiet. That power He had laid down,”. Laying down in this instance is not exercising divinity. We are told “Christ was not to exercise divine power for His own benefit. DA 119.3”. Even in his death “His divinity, His kingly power, is not exercised in coming down from the cross to give proof that He is the Son of God; but He will show that in His death is life-giving power for all who shall believe in Him. He exerts His divine prerogatives, and assures the poor sinner, “Verily I say unto you today, Shalt thou be with me in paradise.” {Ms105-1897}”, “He exercised no power that is not granted us. {Ms70-1903}”

The above is in harmony with the following:

- He took humanity upon Him, but He did not leave His divinity; He clothed His divinity with humanity. He took humanity upon Himself in order to carry humanity through that commandment-keeping people to give the testimony to the whole universe of heaven. He stood in humanity to bear all the battles and conflicts as our head, thus elevating with God every human being on the face of the earth. Now, Christ took humanity that humanity might take His divinity. He took our nature that He might give to human nature His nature. He has passed over the place where Adam fell, and redeemed Adam’s fall. Every reasoning power, every particle of discernment, discrimination, every action of the mind that God has given man, exercise it and not be like a leaf that can be blown by every wind, hither and thither. {Ms163-1898}

- The nature of Christ was a combination of the divine and the human. Having ALL the attributes of God, He also represented the excellencies of humanity and showed that all who believe in Christ as their personal Saviour will perfect a character after Christ's likeness and be qualified to become laborers together with God 11MR 344.1

The reason why Christ never exercised divinity is because:

- It was not for the Son of God to descend from his lofty mission to prove his divinity to a fallen foe, or to condescend to explain his humiliation as man's Redeemer. {BEcho, November 15, 1892 par. 2}
- The pathway of sincerity and integrity is not a path free from obstruction, but in every difficulty we are to see a call to prayer. There is no one living who has any power that he has not received from God, and the source whence it comes is open to the weakest human being. "Whatsoever ye shall ask in my name," said Jesus, "that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it" (John 14:13, 14). The Saviour was deeply anxious for His disciples to understand for what purpose His divinity was united to humanity. He came to the world to display the glory of God, that man might be uplifted by its restoring power. God was manifested in Him that He might be manifested in them. Jesus revealed no qualities, and exercised no powers, that men may not have through faith in Him. His perfect humanity is that which all His followers may possess, if they will be in subjection to God as He was. {LHU 190.6} (The Desire of Ages, p. 667)

Read this carefully and closely

- But although Christ's divine glory was for a time veiled and eclipsed by His assuming humanity, yet He did not cease to be God when He became man. The human did not take the place of the divine, nor the divine of the human. This is the mystery of godliness. The two expressions "human" and "divine" were, in Christ, closely and inseparably one, and yet they had a distinct individuality. Though Christ humbled Himself to become man, the Godhead was still His own. His deity could not be lost while He stood faithful and true to His loyalty. Surrounded with sorrow, suffering, and moral pollution, despised and rejected by the people to whom had been intrusted the oracles of heaven, Jesus could yet speak of Himself as the Son of man in heaven. He was ready to take once more His divine glory when His work on earth was done. {ST, May 10, 1899 par. 11} NOT DIVINE POWERS FOR HE DID NOT LEAVE DIVINITY IN HEAVEN {Ms163-1898}
- As a member of the human family, Jesus was mortal; but as God, He was the Fountain of Life to the world. He could in His divine person have withstood the advances of death, and refused to come under its dominion. He might even in His human nature have withstood the inroads of disease, His divine nature imparting vitality and undecaying vigor to the human. But He voluntarily laid down His life that He might give life, and bring immortality to light. He must bear the sins of the world, and endure the penalty that rolled like a mountain upon His divine soul. The whole treasure of heaven was poured out in one gift to save fallen man. The Saviour brought into His human nature all the life-giving energies that human beings may need and will receive. Wondrous union of man and God! {Ms141-1901}

- "I lay down My life, [IMMORTALITY BECAUSE THIS IS THE LIFE OF THE FATHER JOHN 5:26] that I might take it again. No man taketh it from Me, but I lay it down of Myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again." While as a member of the human family He was mortal, as God He was the fountain of life for the world. He could have withstood the advances of death, and refused to come under its dominion; but voluntarily He laid down His life, that He might bring life and immortality to light [THROUGH RESURRECTION JOHN 5:24, DA 209.3]. He bore the sin of the world, endured its curse, yielded up His life as a sacrifice [POURING OUT OF HIS SOUL ISAIAH 53:12, THE SUNDERING OF DIVINITY {Ms93-1899.23}], that men might not eternally die. "Surely He hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows. He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all." Isaiah 53:4-6. {DA 484.1}

The truth is always in the middle and it elopes people like a noiseless wind. Not saying this about anyone but all of us. Their still needs to be that humbling. For "The track of truth lies close beside the track of error, and both tracks may seem to be one to minds which are not worked by the Holy Spirit, and which, therefore, are not quick to discern the difference between truth and error. {RH, October 22, 1903 par. 2}"

Christ divested of what? OUTWARD FORM and GLORY and not INWARD ATTRIBUTES and nowhere am aware of do the Bible and SoP talk of Jesus being stripped or divested of DIVINITY of INWARD ATTRIBUTES as it says he was DIVESTED and STRIPPED of DIVINITY as of OUTWARD FORM and GLORY. In the next quote the word divested and relinquish are used when it comes to the out ward form not inward. We have found "He did not leave His divinity {Ms163-1898}" in heaven that is to mean his inward attributes for his nature was a combination of the divine and the human. Having ALL the attributes of God 11MR 344.1" but the following one tells us that he left outward glory and crown that's he divested, relinquished it:

- The apostle would call our attention from ourselves to the Author of our salvation. He presents before us His two natures, divine and human. He voluntarily assumed human nature. It was his own act, and by His own consent. He clothed His divinity with humanity. He was all the while as God, but He did not appear as God. He veiled the demonstrations of Deity which had commanded the homage, and called forth the admiration of the universe of God. He was God while upon earth, but He divested Himself of the form of God, and in its stead took the form and fashion of a man. He walked the earth as a man. For our sakes He became poor, that we through His poverty might be made rich. He laid aside His glory and His majesty. He was God, but the glories of the form of God He for awhile relinquished. He bore the sins of the world, and endured the penalty which rolled like a mountain upon His divine soul. He yielded up His life a sacrifice, that man should not eternally die. He died, not through being compelled to die, but by His own free will. {7ABC 446.1}

This is in line with:

- *Philippians 2:5 Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: 6 Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: 7 But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men:

Notice the beautiful comparisons Outward robe laid aside not inward attributes in the sanctuary theme which is the plan of redemption

- As in the typical service the high priest laid aside his pontifical robes and officiated in the white linen dress of an ordinary priest; so Christ laid aside His royal robes and garbed Himself with humanity and offered sacrifice, Himself the priest, Himself the victim. As the high priest, after performing his service in the holy of holies, came forth to the waiting congregation in his pontifical robes; so Christ will come the second time, clothed in garments of whitest white, "so as no fuller on earth can white them." Mark 9:3. He will come in His own glory, and in the glory of His Father, and all the angelic host will escort Him on His way. {AA 33.3}
- We think it costs us something to stand in this position before the world; and so it does. But what has our salvation cost the heavenly universe? To make us partakers of the divine nature, heaven gave its most costly treasure. The Son of God laid aside His royal robe and kingly crown and came to our earth as a little child.—Manuscript 9a, 1908.

I think that the whole problem lies with people never getting out of their mind that we do not mean to say he used any of his powers but every conquering the power had to rest on him from the Father. Just try to pause and think this over for a minute, how could the temptations of Jesus be greater than that of Adam? {YI, June 2, 1898 par. 7}, {3SM 136.2}, {16MR 182.3}. It has to do with something he possess yet can't use yet Adam didn't have. This to me is clear that it's the reason why it was the greatest and made his possibility of falling even more easier than Adam. In {16MR 182.3} EGW bears witness that his divinity combined with humanity made the temptation greatest and his possibility of sinning more probable. Tell me, is the temptation to your child disregarding your command not to watch the TV in your house greater when you have the TV or when you do not have it? Of course when you have it.

God wanted him to prove to Satan that man relying to God can be overcomer. That's where the temptation really was, will he disobey also and exercise the power he agreed he won't exercise. He could have tapped into immortality and given power to his decaying human for we are told:

- He might even in His human nature have withstood the inroads of disease, His divine nature imparting vitality and undecaying vigor to the human. But He voluntarily laid down His life, that He might give life and bring immortality to light. He must bear the sins of the world and endure the penalty that rolled like a mountain upon His divine soul. The whole treasure of heaven was poured out in one gift to save fallen men. The Saviour brought into His human nature all the life-giving energies that human beings may need and will receive. Wondrous union of man and God! {Ms141-1901.14}

We can see in the quote above that in his humanity he had vigor in his divine nature which if he could tap into it he could never die. What is that vitality and vigor in that quote? Eternal life, immortality according to John 5:26

1John 5:11 And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.

Either we believe the record of eternal life in his son as we believe he is a true son or we disbelief and then border towards the doctrine of the historical Jesus and not the prophetic Jesus

We should Understand these quotes on merits. When you come to the outward features, the language used is

- Divested
- Relinquished
- Laid aside

When you come to inward attributes the language used is

- Veiled
- Clothed
- Laid aside

Laid aside can apply to both groups but the other two phrases in either groups cannot be exchanged

Hope we can agree on that. We have the outward features of divinity which is his outward glory and the inward features of divinity which are the qualitative nature of God having the three omnis. Problem is that people are not seeing that distinction hence when it's said laid aside they think that what happened to the outward features is what happened to the inside features.

I will say, when it says the outward features were laid aside, it means they were divested, relinquished, left in heaven that's the outward form and crown for Jesus could not enter inside the body of Mary with crown and a full grown glorious body. When it says the inward features were laid aside it means that they were veiled, clothed with humanity, the deity was not humanized nor humanity deified but those divine features existed in their distinct individuality but not exercised laying there as a great test of submission and obedience to the Father. Though he were a Divine Son and could exercise divinity, he learned obedience by the things he suffered Hebrews 5:8, that's being tempted by Satan to use divinity but not yielding. The inward features he never left, relinquished or divested, observe again

- He took humanity upon Him, but He did not leave His divinity; He clothed His divinity with humanity. 13LtMs, Ms 163, 1898, par. 15
- Will you remember the mission? That is His pass into our world. He left the royal courts, and by the will of His Father He came in our world as a little child. But did He leave His divinity behind Him? No, indeed. He took His divinity with Him. 24LtMs, Ms 123, 1909, par. 19

Did Christ have Immortality as a human?

My quick answer is yes and allow me to elaborate. Travel with me through Maranatha Chap. 294 - Life Eternal Begins Now

- This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. 1 John 5:11. {Mar 302.1}
- The resurrection of Jesus was a sample of the final resurrection of all who sleep in Him. {Mar 302.2}
- He the Christian may die; but the life of Christ is in him, and at the resurrection of the just he will rise to newness of life. {Mar 302.3}
- "In him Christ was life; and the life was the light of men." It is not physical life that is here specified, but immortality, the life which is exclusively the property of God. The Word, who was with God, and who was God, had this life. Physical life is something which each individual receives. It is not eternal or immortal; for God, the Life-giver, takes it again. Man has no control over his life. But the life of Christ was unborrowed. No one can take this life from Him. "I lay it down of myself," He said. In Him was life, original, unborrowed, underived. This life is not inherent in man. He can possess it only through Christ. {Mar 302.4}

- While bearing human nature, He Christ was dependent upon the Omnipotent for His life. In His humanity, He laid hold of the divinity of God; and this every member of the human family has the privilege of doing. {Mar 302.5}
- If we repent of our transgression, and receive Christ as the Life-giver, we become one with Him, and our will is brought into harmony with the divine will. We become partakers of the life of Christ, which is eternal. We derive immortality from God by receiving the life of Christ, for in Christ dwells all the fulness of the Godhead bodily. This life is the mystical union and cooperation of the divine with the human. {Mar 302.6}
- Christ became one flesh with us, in order that we might become one spirit with Him. It is by virtue of this union that we are to come forth from the grave-not merely as a manifestation of the power of Christ, but because, through faith, His life has become ours. Those who see Christ in His true character, and receive Him into the heart, have everlasting life. It is through the Spirit that Christ dwells in us; and the Spirit of God, received into the heart by faith, is the beginning of the life eternal. {Mar 302.7}

Hence it is now that man by receiving the spirit is receiving eternal life that immortality John 6:63 It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, [they] are spirit, and [they] are life. And that's paul refers to Jesus as the second Adam quickenning us for immortality. 1Corinthians 15:45 And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam [was made] a quickenning spirit.

Selected Messages Book 1 Chap. 43 - Christ the Life-giver - [THIS ARTICLE APPEARED IN THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES, APRIL 8, 1897.]

- "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made. In him was life; and the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not" (John 1:1-5). The world did not see divinity in the humble Man of Nazareth. The only-begotten Son of the infinite God was in the world, and men knew Him not in His true character. {1SM 296.1}

- "In him was life; and the life was the light of men" (John 1:4). It is not physical life that is here specified, but immortality, the life which is exclusively the property of God. The Word, who was with God, and who was God, had this life. Physical life is something which each individual receives. It is not eternal or immortal; for God, the Life-giver, takes it again. Man has no control over his life. But the life of Christ was unborrowed. No one can take this life from Him. "I lay it down of myself" (John 10:18), He said. In Him was life, original, unborrowed, underived. This life is not inherent in man. He can possess it only through Christ. He cannot earn it; it is given him as a free gift if he will believe in Christ as His personal Saviour. "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (John 17:3). This is the open fountain of life for the world. {1SM 296.2}
- Giving his charge to Timothy, Paul says, "But thou, O man of God, flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness. Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses. I give thee charge in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Christ Jesus, who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession; that thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ: which in his times he shall shew, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, the Lord of lords; who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto; whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting" (1 Timothy 6:11-16). {1SM 297.1}
- Writing again, Paul says: "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief. Howbeit for this cause I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might shew forth all longsuffering, for a pattern to them which should hereafter believe on him to life everlasting. Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever" (1 Timothy 1:15-17). {1SM 297.2}

Immortality Brought by Christ

- Christ "brought life and immortality to light through the gospel" (2 Timothy 1:10). No man can have an independent spiritual life apart from Him. The sinner is not immortal; for God has said, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die" (Ezekiel 18:4). This means all that it expresses. It reaches farther than the death which is common to all; it means the second death. Men start back at this, saying, Would you make man no more than a beast? This is thought to be degrading. But what is it that elevates man in the sight of God? Is it his accumulation of money?-- No; for God declares, The gold and the silver are mine. If man abuses his entrusted treasures, God can scatter faster than man can gather. Man may have brilliant intellect; he may be rich in the possession of natural endowments. But these are all given him by God, his Maker. God can remove the gift of reason, and in a moment man will become as Nebuchadnezzar, degraded to the level of the beasts of the field. This God does because man acts as though his wisdom and power had been gotten independently of Him. {1SM 297.3}

- Man is only mortal, and while he feels himself too wise to accept Jesus, he will remain only mortal. Men have done wonderful things in the intellectual world, but who gave them power to do this?--The Lord God of hosts. If in their fancied efficiency men triumph because of their own power, and glorify themselves, following the example of the antediluvian world, they will perish. The imagination of that long-lived race was only evil, and that continually. They were wise to do evil, and the earth was corrupted under the inhabitants thereof. Had they connected themselves with the One who is infinite in wisdom, they could have done marvelous things with their God-given ability and talents. But, turning from God, they chose to follow Satan's lead, as many today are doing; and the Lord swept them from the earth, with all their boasted knowledge. {1SM 298.1}
- Humanity may be exalted by the world for what it has done. But man can lower himself very fast in God's sight by misapplying and misappropriating his entrusted talents, which, if rightly used, would elevate him. While the Lord is long-suffering and not willing that any shall perish, He will by no means clear the guilty. Let all take heed to the words of the Lord. "Wherefore kick ye at my sacrifice and at mine offering, which I have commanded in my habitation; and honourest thy sons above me, to make yourselves fat with the chiefest of all the offerings of Israel my people? Wherefore the Lord God of Israel saith, I said indeed that thy house, and the house of thy father, should walk before me for ever: but now the Lord saith, Be it far from me; for them that honour me I will honour, and they that despise me shall be lightly esteemed" (1 Samuel 2:29-30). {1SM 298.2}
- God honors those who obey Him. "The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness," said David; "according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me. For I have kept the ways of the Lord, and have not wickedly departed from my God. For all his judgments were before me, and I did not put away his statutes from me" (Psalm 18:20-22). {1SM 299.1}

How to Obtain Everlasting Life

- Only the believer in Christ can receive life everlasting. Only by continually feeding on Christ's flesh and blood can we have the assurance that we are partakers of the divine nature. No one should be indifferent on this subject, saying, If we are honest, it is no matter what we believe. You cannot with safety surrender any seed of vital truth in order to please yourself or anybody else. Do not seek to avoid the cross. If we receive no light from the Sun of Righteousness, we have no connection with the Source of all light; and if this life and light do not abide in us, we can never be saved. {1SM 299.2}
- God has made every provision that His purpose in the creation of man shall not be frustrated by Satan. After Adam and Eve brought death into the world by their disobedience, a costly sacrifice was provided for the human race. A higher value than that they originally possessed was placed upon them. By giving Christ, His only-begotten Son, as a ransom for the world, God gave all heaven. {1SM 299.3}
- The acceptance of Christ gives value to the human being. His sacrifice carries life and light to all who take Christ as their personal Saviour. The love of God through Jesus Christ is shed abroad in the heart of every member of His body, carrying with it the vitality of the law of God the Father. Thus God may dwell with man, and man may dwell with God. Paul declared, "I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me" (Galatians 2:20). {1SM 299.4}
- If through faith man becomes one with Christ, he can win life everlasting. God loves those who are redeemed through Christ, even as He loves His Son. What a thought! Can God love the sinner as He loves His own Son?--Yes; Christ has said it, and He means just what He says. He will honor all our drafts if we will grasp His promise by living faith, and put our trust in Him. Look to Him, and live. All who obey God are embraced in the prayer which Christ offered to His Father, "I have declared unto them thy name, and will declare it: that the love wherewith thou hast loved me may be in them, and I in them" (John 17:26). Wonderful truth, too difficult for humanity to comprehend! {1SM 300.1}
- Christ declares: "I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst" (John 6:35). "And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day" (John 6:40). "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life" (John 6:47). "Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you. Whoso eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed. He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him. As the living Father hath sent me, and I live by the Father: so he that eateth me, even he shall live by me. This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers did eat manna, and are dead: he that eateth of this bread shall live for ever" (John 6:53-58). "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life" (John 6:63). {1SM 300.2}

As Jesus had had divine life in him but gave it up and rested without seeing beyond the portals of the tomb in the hope that the Father will resurrect him, so we begin here on earth to have it and since we have accepted the life of his son, then the Father through the Son is indebted to resurrect us for us to repossess our new identity if we happen to sleep today.

- John 5:24 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life. 25 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live. 26 For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself;
- The Saviour continued: "What things soever He [the Father] doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise. As the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom He will." The Sadducees held that there would be no resurrection of the body; but Jesus tells them that one of the greatest works of His Father is raising the dead, and that He Himself has power to do the same work. "The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live." The Pharisees believed in the resurrection of the dead. Christ declares that even now the power which gives life to the dead is among them, and they are to behold its manifestation. This same resurrection power is that which gives life to the soul "dead in trespasses and sins". Ephesians 2:1. That spirit of life in Christ Jesus, "the power of His resurrection," sets men "free from the law of sin and death." Philippians 3:10; Romans 8:2. The dominion of evil is broken, and through faith the soul is kept from sin. He who opens his heart to the Spirit of Christ becomes a partaker of that mighty power which shall bring forth his body from the grave. {DA 209.3}

The body that Jesus had was liable to death and was not the perfect one to be the carrier of immortality hence in resurrection he was given a glorified human body, this is also what will happen to us so that the perfect immortality may have a perfect body to carry the immortality

- 1Corinthians 15:50 Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. 51 Behold, I show you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, 52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. 53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal [must] put on immortality. 54 So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory. 35 But some [man] will say, How are the dead raised up? and with what body do they come? 37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare grain, it may chance of wheat, or of some other [grain]: 38 But God giveth it a body as it hath pleased him, and to every seed his own body. 39 All flesh [is] not the same flesh: but [there is] one [kind of] flesh of men, another flesh of beasts, another of fishes, [and] another of birds. 40 [There are] also celestial bodies, and bodies terrestrial: but the glory of the celestial [is] one, and the [glory] of the terrestrial [is] another. 41 [There is] one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars: for [one] star differeth from [another] star in glory. 42 So also [is] the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption: 43 It is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power: 44 It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body. 45 And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam [was made] a quickening spirit. 46 Howbeit that [was] not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual. 47 The first man [is] of the earth, earthy: the second man [is] the Lord from heaven. 48 As [is] the earthy, such [are] they also that are earthy; and as [is] the heavenly, such [are] they also that are heavenly. 49 And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly.

I reiterate the belief that from such compelling evidence, Christ had immortality here and that's what comprised his divinity that existed as distinct individuality that he didn't tap in. God wanted him to prove to Satan that man relying to God can be overcomer. That's where the temptation really was, will he disobey also and exercise the power he agreed he won't exercise. He could have tapped into immortality and given power to his decaying human but he didn't for obedience or disobedience is what defines sin and the choice of either determines your destiny:

- He might even in His human nature have withstood the inroads of disease, His divine nature imparting vitality and undecaying vigor to the human. {Ms141-1901.14}

This could have been disobedience and Christ would have suffered the same fate of disobedient Adamic race:

- Could Satan in the least particular have tempted Christ to sin, he would have bruised the Saviour's head. As it was, he could only touch His heel. Had the head of Christ been touched, the hope of the human race would have perished. Divine wrath would have come upon Christ as it came upon Adam. Christ and the church would have been without hope. {1SM 256.1}

This vitality and vigor is what is immortality but he gave it up and this is what makes up the sacrifice eternal, the sundering of divinity:

- Isaiah 53:10 Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise him; he hath put him to grief: when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in his hand.
- The Captain of our salvation was perfected through suffering. His soul was made an offering for sin. It was necessary for the awful darkness to gather about His soul because of the withdrawal of the Father's love and favor, for He was standing in the sinner's place, and this darkness every sinner must experience. The righteous One must suffer the condemnation and wrath of God, not in vindictiveness; for the heart of God yearned with greatest sorrow when His Son, <the Guiltless,> was suffering the penalty of sin. This sundering of the divine powers will never again occur throughout the eternal ages. In His expiring agony nature sympathized with her suffering, dying Author. The sun was darkened. The rocks were rent. There was a great earthquake, and many graves were opened as Christ with a loud voice cried, "It is finished. Father, into thy hands I commit my spirit." "Now when the centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Certainly this was a righteous man." John 19:30; Luke 23:46, 47. 14LtMs, Ms 93, 1899, par. 23

This is what made the temptations of Jesus more greater than that of Adam. Being not able to use what he had that Adam didn't have. This is the impetus, the very power of the message of Righteousness by Faith, the total dependence on God:

- "The faith of Jesus." It is talked of, but not understood. What constitutes the faith of Jesus, that belongs to the third angel's message? Jesus becoming our sin-bearer that He might become our sin-pardoning Saviour. He was treated as we deserve to be treated. He came to our world and took our sins that we might take His righteousness. Faith in the ability of Christ to save us amply and fully and entirely is the faith of Jesus. {12MR 193.4}*

- The only safety for the Israelites was blood upon the doorposts. God said, "When I see the blood, I will pass over you" (Exodus 12:13). All other devices for safety would be without avail. Nothing but the blood on the doorposts would bar the way that the angel of death should not enter. There is salvation for the sinner in the blood of Jesus Christ alone, which cleanseth us from all sin. The man with a cultivated intellect may have vast stores of knowledge, he may engage in theological speculations, he may be great and honored of men and be considered the repository of knowledge, but unless he has a saving knowledge of Christ crucified for him, and by faith lays hold of the righteousness of Christ, he is lost. Christ "was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed" (Isaiah 53:5). "Saved by the blood of Jesus Christ," will be our only hope for time and our song throughout eternity. {12MR 194.1}

Many people have no clue what they come into possession with when they accept Christ. They think it is only a mere change of habits et al but friends this is the very mystery of godliness

- Colossians 1:25 Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God; 26 [Even] the mystery which hath been hid from ages and from generations, but now is made manifest to his saints; 27 To whom God would make known what [is] the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory:

Indeed

- The humanity of the Son of God is everything to us. It is the golden chain that binds our souls to Christ, and through Christ to God. This is to be our study. Christ was a real man; he gave proof of his humility in becoming a man. Yet he was God in the flesh. When we approach this subject, we would do well to heed the words spoken by Christ to Moses at the burning bush, "Put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground." We should come to this study with the humility of a learner, with a contrite heart. And the study of the incarnation of Christ is a fruitful field, which will repay the searcher who digs deep for hidden truth. {YI, October 13, 1898 par. 6}

I pause by saying:

"The revelation that God has given us of Himself is for our study. This we may seek to understand. But beyond this we are not to penetrate."

*"If anyone springs the old cavil, how Christ could be immortal and yet die, we have only to say that we do not know. We make no pretensions of Fathoming infinity." -E. Waggoner, Christ and His Righteousness page 18.*

- I rejoice in the bright prospects of the future, and so may you. Be cheerful, and praise the Lord for His loving-kindness. That which you cannot understand, commit to Him. He loves you and pities your every weakness. He "hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ." It would not satisfy the heart of the Infinite One to give those who love His Son a lesser blessing than He gives His Son.
